

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A dispenser and a control method thereof, and a refrigerator using the same. A method of controlling a dispenser having a driving part discharging objects, and a switching part controlling the driving part to operate and stop, including sensing whether the switching part is turned on or off; and controlling the driving part to operate after a lapse of a predetermined delay time since the switching part is turned on.